BBC1 TV SERIES: 'HEIR HUNTERS' FEATURES CELTIC RESEARCH

'Heir Hunters' is a new BBC1 television documentary series focusing on the work of probate genealogists as they seek to find missing heirs to unclaimed fortunes. The series features Hector Birchwood of Celtic Research as he works against his competitors, in a race against time to find the rightful heirs to unclaimed estates and prevent the UK government from seizing those assets.

The fifteen part series is due to be streamed every weekday at 9:15 am on BBC1 from 04- 22 June 2007 and will feature several companies as they uncover the life stories of families and individuals through their genealogical and investigative expertise.

Hector Birchwood is a graduate of the London School of Economics and a business entrepreneur with a passion for history and genealogy. With his usual good humour Hector goes through the ups and downs of winning and losing cases, never forgetting how much he loves his work –despite the fact it can often be a frustrating uphill battle against bureaucrats, lawyers and competitors.

The 'Heir Hunters' series was a co-production between Mint TV and Flame Television.
